

Flight Across U.S. Planned

BELLEVIEW, Ill., Aug. 28.—(By the Associated Press)—The first transcontinental airship flight ever attempted in the United States will be started by C-2, from Langley Field, Va., September 1. It was announced today at Scott Field, the government fighter-air station here. Stops will be made at Akron and Dayton, Ohio, St. Louis, Layton, Oklahoma, San Antonio, March, El Paso, Texas, Yuma, Arizona, and Los Angeles.

PLANE BEING OVERHAULED

NEWPORT NEWS, Va., Aug. 28.—The airship C-2, now at Langley Field, is being overhauled in preparation for its transcontinental flight, upon which it will start as early as September 1. The overhauling is being done by a new crew of men, the maximum crew needed for such trips, and to stimulate interest in aeronautics and to demonstrate the possibilities of lighter than air machines. The C-2 will be named by Major H. A. Strauss in command, two engine officers, two pilots and a radio operator.

Hydrogen likely will be used in the envelope, although there has been some talk of using helium, the non-explosive gas. The measurements of the C-2 are: Length 122 feet overall, width 54 feet, height of envelope 56 feet, engines, two of 300 horsepower geared to work together or one at a time, cruising speed 60 miles per hour.

WILL ANSWER ANY WOMAN WHO WRITES

Woman Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Makes This Offer

Cumberland, Md.—"My mother gave me Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound when I was between thirteen and fourteen years old and was going to school, because I suffered with pains and could not rest. I did not have any more trouble after that until I was married, then I always was troubled in my back while carrying a child and could not do my work until I took the Vegetable Compound. I am strong, do all my washing and ironing and work for seven children and feel fine. I always have an easy time at childbirth and what it did for me it will do for other women. I am willing to answer any woman if she will write asking what it did for me."

Living Wage To Be Determined

CHICAGO, August 28.—With the resumption of the hearing tomorrow of the maintenance of way organization's case involving wages and rules governing its 400,000 members, the United States railroad labor board will rule on a formal request to define the much mooted question, "what constitutes a living wage."

The announcement was made by Ben W. Hooper, chairman of the board, when he adjourned today's session, that Jett Lauck, statistical expert for the maintenance of way men had made a motion to that effect on behalf of President E. F. Grable, and his colleagues.

A surprise came late today when Dr. A. P. Neal, representative of the southern roads objected to President Grable's argument for increases based on a 48 cent an hour minimum. Dr. Neal declared that President Grable had no right under the transportation act to base his argument on this basis.

"The men have not in any case submitted to individual roads under my representation a demand for an increase for wages based on 48 cents an hour minimum," declared Dr. Neal. "Instead, in all conferences between the management and the roads of the southeast and the maintenance of way representatives, the scale ranging from 36 1-2 cents to 48 cents an hour was discussed. Under the provisions of the transportation act, therefore, President Grable has no right to come before the board and argue for an increase, based on a 48 cent minimum, as this minimum was never an issue in any of our conferences."

John Higgins, representative of the western roads and John G. Walburn, spokesman for the eastern roads, both approved and participated in Dr. Neal's objections stating that the 48 cent minimum was never at issue in the negotiations on their roads.

The board, Dr. Neal declared, had no right to consider a proposition that did not in any way resemble the original requests made upon individual roads. Chairman Hooper indicated that no action would be taken on this point until the submissions were checked to make positive that no reference was made in them to a minimum of 48 cents an hour.

The objections threaten to lead to expurgation from the record of all mention of a 48 cents an hour minimum. In that event President Grable will of necessity continue his argument on the basis of scales set forth in the submission of individual roads. In support of his motion, Mr. Lauck read a lengthy manuscript dealing with the minimum wage standard and its practicability of application.

The motion, he told the board, has the following definite meaning: "That the board accept and make the basis of its decision in this case, as well as part of its general policy in fixing the wage rates of railroad employees, that—

"A—Adult workers of the lower grades, unskilled railroad employees, be awarded rates of pay which will enable them under normal conditions to earn yearly more than a minimum sufficient to permit them to maintain standards of living that are approved as healthful and decent, and that are promotive of genuine industrial economy and efficiency; and;

"B—That proper differentials above this minimum living wage be paid for added skill, responsibility, training and hazard."

Walker addressed the board in behalf of his representations, saying he would never accept "a bald, indefinite thing as a living wage."

HEALER ASTOUNDS FRANCE

PARIS, Aug. 29.—A day at the clinic of Dr. Emile Coue, the healer of Nancy, would indicate that the human mind is the master of human diseases.

His face as a healer has spread afar and people from all parts of France are coming to him. Scientists are watching closely the work he is performing.

Coue does not claim that his method is a substitute for medicine or surgery. He does not claim to have a substitute for religion. But he does claim—and his successes substantiate him—that auto-suggestion is helpful in organic as well as in nervous and functional diseases.

"Anyone can practice auto-suggestion for himself, without seeking the help of another person," says Dr. Coue.

not know what it is," he said, "and neither do I believe any one else does. The trouble is that you are trying to regulate this problem with theories and pencil and paper instead of practical application."

When the board adjourned today, only a portion of the maintenance organization's side of the case had been presented. The remainder is scheduled to follow the board's announcement tomorrow morning. Neither had any action been taken on the preliminary questions raised by the eastern roads.

The railroads contended that the submissions could not apply to ten eastern roads because maintenance of way men on these roads had struck—that therefore they were no longer railroad employees in accordance with a previous ruling of the board; and that the new organizations, not affiliated with the United Brotherhood of Maintenance of Way Employees, contained the majority of workers of that class employed on the roads.

ELOPE THEN WIRE PARENTS

CHARLOTTE, N. C., Aug. 28.—After eloping from their homes in Asheville, N. C. and reaching Greenville early Friday evening, Miss Ida Witt, only child of Eli Witt, of Tampa, Fla., manufacturer of the Hava-Mung cigar, was quietly married to Harold A. Mearns, son of Frank A. Mearns, of Asheville, N. C., manufacturer of the F. A. M. C. auto polishes, at the Episcopal chapel by Rev. Frank A. Juhan.

The charming young bride is 18 years of age and quite prominent in society circles both at Asheville and Tampa. She was a student at Dunston hall and residing at her summer home at Asheville.

Young Mearns was a member of the junior class of Virginia Military Institute and 21 years of age. The young couple made their way from Asheville by motor without the knowledge of their parents, although parents of both contracting parties were wired immediately after the ceremony had been performed. Remains in Greenville Friday night they left Greenville yesterday for Atlanta and parts unknown for a bridal trip. Upon their return they will probably make their home in Asheville, although definite decision has not been reached, it was stated.

KLUX CANDIDATE WINS IN TEXAS

DALLAS, Tex., Aug. 28.—Texas election bureau continued to indicate that Earl R. Mayfield said to have been the Ku Klux Klan candidate, was nominated at the Democratic primary for United States senator in 26 out of 245 counties, 28 being complete. Mayfield had 272,041 and Ferguson 204,098. It was estimated the total vote may be 550,000 or more in this race.

T. W. Davidson, said to be the anti-klan candidate for lieutenant governor, apparently had a safe lead over Col. Bill Mayfield, Jr. Davidson had 254,514 votes and Mayfield 172,961.

For state treasurer, C. V. Terrell had 232,371 and George Garrett 153,372.

The race for superintendent of public instruction continued close. S. M. N. Morris, anti-klan candidate, having 215,773 and Ed R. Bentley 169,702.

Incomplete returns from the 14th congressional district gave Harry H. Hargrove 15,062 and John H. Cunningham 12,416. In the 17th district, complete figures gave Congressman Thomas L. Blanton 25,419 and Oscar Gallaway, former congressman, 15,434.

48 Entombed In Burning Mine

JACKSON, Cal., Aug. 28.—Mine rescue crews worked without avail today in the Argonaut gold mine in which 48 men were entombed at midnight by fire. The men were thought to be between the 4,500 and 4,000 foot levels while the main body of the fire was more than 1,000 feet above them. Employees of the mine were sent into the Argonaut mine through a tunnel but which is closed by a concrete bulkhead, with intention to blast down the bulkhead and enter the Argonaut.

It had been reported that the Kennedy tunnel had collapsed but the report was not verified. Early today V. S. Garbarini of the Argonaut succeeded in restoring the cut off air supply to the 2,000 foot level and efforts were continued to extend the air supply.

DASH TO POLE BY AIR PUT OFF

NOME, Alaska, Aug. 28.—(By the Associated Press)—Captain Road Amundsen's exploration ship Maud is in the ice off Point Hope, north of Kotzebue Sound and the eastern entrance to Bering Strait, according to a radio message received here today from the coast guard cutter Bear. It is believed here that the Maud is returning to Nome because of unfavorable ice conditions.

The message also gives definite information that Captain Amundsen, who left the Maud some time ago with Lieutenant Oscar Omdal, aviator, and motion picture photographer, will spend the winter at Wainwright, near Point Barrow, apparently having given up his proposed train-Polar airplane flight for this season at least.

The Bear is due to arrive at Nome within the next 24 hours. The arrival is anxiously awaited in the hope that more definite information may be obtained from Captain Amundsen, her commander.

The Maud, bearing the Amundsen north polar basin scientific expedition, sailed from Seattle, June 3, bound for Nome and the Arctic Ocean. At that time Captain Amundsen expected to drift with the Arctic ice pack, making oceanographical and meteorographical investigation across the north pole. He expected to be gone from five to seven years.

C'NTINUES ATTACK ON GOV. HARDING

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28.—Continuing his attack on Governor W. P. G. Harding of the Federal reserve board who, it has been reported, may be re-appointed, Senator Heflin, Democrat, Alabama, declared in the Senate today that "only two senators from the South and, in my judgment, not more than that from the West would vote to confirm the governor's re-nomination."

Reiterating his statements concerning what he described as the reserve board's "deadly deflation policy, engineered from Wall Street," Senator Heflin told the Senate that while that policy had forced "millions" from the pockets of the producers, the twelve reserve banks paid out in salaries in 1918 a total of $19,987,155 or $15,219,110 more than the salaries paid in 1917. These estimates as to salaries, Senator Heflin said were compiled by John Skelton Williams, former comptroller of the currency, and were transmitted by Mr. Williams to Senator Smoot, Republican, Utah.

Senator Heflin denounced Governor Harding as a "tool of Wall Street," applying the name of "William Polson Gas" Harding to the governor's initials because, the senator said, "the death and destruction that has been spread throughout the country by that deadly deflation policy."

Help That Aching Back!

Is your back giving out. Are you tired, miserable, run down; tormented with aching, headache, lameness and sudden, stabbing pains? If so, look to your kidneys. Overwork, hurry and worry tend to weaken the kidneys. Backache and an all over tired feeling is often the first warning. Use Doan's Kidney Pills, the remedy Danville folks recommend. Ask your neighbor.

Here's a Danville Case. J. W. Scarce, 210 E. Thomas St., says: "I suffered with rheumatic pains and was so bad I could hardly get around. I had severe pains, especially in my joints and I tried different kidney remedies, but all to no avail until I used Doan's Kidney Pills. Doan's pills cured me and I have had no return of the trouble."

ADMIRAL WRIGHT LECTURES HERE

Admiral A. O. Wright, commanding officer of the Confederate Naval Veterans, delivered a lecture last night in the Y. M. C. A. auditorium, in behalf of establishment of a home for Naval Veterans of the civil war. The speaker made an interesting speech citing some of his experiences of the civil war and relating notable occurrences. The lecture being illustrated with stereoptical views of incidents during that time.

Admiral Wright made an appeal in behalf of the members of the navy at that time, mentioning the fact that all soldiers have a home and that there is not a one for the few remaining sailors, about 300. Admiral Wright is seeking to raise $10,000 to build such a home probably in Florida.

Believe Woman Lied On Deathbed

Authorities Think Mrs. Wainwright Took Poison and Was Protecting Man.

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—The Nassau county, L. I., authorities announced today that they would begin today a full investigation of the mysterious death of Mrs. Robert C. Wainwright, who died in the Nassau Hospital, Mineola, Saturday. She was taken here from her home in Floral Park, L. I., Wednesday afternoon.

An official action started when Dr. G. A. Fenstermaker was called in by another physician when Mrs. Wainwright was stricken, refused to sign her death certificate. When he signed the certificate, the coroner ordered an autopsy.

Detective Miller said yesterday that when the Nassau County authorities were notified Thursday that the death of Mrs. Wainwright was imminent, and that her case appeared to warrant the attention of the district attorney, he visited her bedside and claims Mrs. Wainwright then said:

"I became ill after taking some pills my husband gave me."

Reminded that she had said her husband was in South America, Mrs. Wainwright replied:

"Well, it was a man gave them to me."

Dr. A. L. Higgins, who was called to determine the cause of death Saturday, notified the coroner he had been unable to do so. He said yesterday that it was apparent Mrs. Wainwright had taken poison, probably bichloride of mercury.

Mrs. Wainwright, mother of a two and a half-year-old girl and appeared to be a woman of some means, lived in the upper floor of a 2-family house at No. 235 Lowell avenue, Floral Park, April 27. Because she kept herself from her neighbors called her "the woman of mystery."

When renting the place she said her husband was in South America half the time. An elderly couple she introduced as her parents and who lived with her, have disappeared, she has the child, Phyllis.

John C. Watt, of Floral Park, Mrs. Wainwright's attorney, last night declined to discuss her affairs. He said, however, that Wednesday morning, when she called at his office, she appeared ill and he advised her to go home and call a physician.

GRAIN LETTER. CHICAGO, Aug. 29.—Delayed distribution seems to be the principal reason for strength in wheat. Inasmuch as the delay is a matter of interference with natural supply and demand of labor it does not inspire confidence. Hedging sales are offset by seaboard buying which accounts for steadiness of the market but there is not enough investment demand to advance values.

No Progress Made in Effort to Settle Case of Maintenance of Way Men.

(By The Associated Press.) CHICAGO, Aug. 29.—The Railroad Labor Board today denied the motion of W. Jett Lauck, labor statistician, that the board immediately define the principle of a living wage, in the case of a maintenance of way employees who are seeking increased minimum rates of pay. At the request of E. F. Grable, president of the maintenance organization, the hearing then adjourned until tomorrow morning.

Sleuths Fail To Appear In Court

Magistrate Collie Reports Winston Men Declined to Go to Chatham Unless Assured of Protection.

R. G. Thompson and J. H. Dunn, Winston-Salem, N. C., detectives, who worked for two weeks in Gretna preparing liquor cases against certain townspeople, failed to appear in court at Chatham yesterday when the hearing on warrants was so ruled, interrupted several days ago. Conflicting accounts of what actually took place continue to be told.

Commonwealth's Attorney George T. Rison removed the cases of Lang Rorer, W. B. Rorer and Ollie Edwards to Chatham after the court session had been formally adjourned with the acquittal of Ollie Ramsey. These cases were set for hearing in Chatham yesterday, but as neither of the detectives were present, a continuance was granted until September 5th. The continuance was sanctioned by the State's attorney who was not prepared to go into the trial without the sleuths.

Magistrate R. C. Collie had on hand yesterday Magistrate Gilbert and Magistrate Martin of Swansboro, a full court of justice, prepared to sit in the case.

Magistrate Collie said this afternoon that he had heard yesterday that the officers had refused to go to Chatham unless adequate protective measures could be afforded them. The justice stated that the Chatham officers would be fully able to protect the men and that they had no reason to fear any repetition of what is alleged to have taken place at Gretna. This word, it is understood, has been sent to the detectives whose presence is expected next Tuesday at Chatham.

Plaster Shortage Is Due To Strike

Parks and Company, builders of the Masonic Temple are experiencing difficulty in securing shipments of plaster needed in developing the interior finishing work. The railway situation and difficulty in moving freight is largely responsible for this. The shortage will not be sufficient to hold back the completion of the three stores on Main Street on which work is being pushed in order that they may be occupied by the firms which have secured leases at the earliest possible moment. Plaster for so large a building as the Temple represents a big sum and several tons will be needed for the coating of the interior walls and ceilings.

The freeze and cornice of the building has now been placed and since the outside swinging scaffolding has been removed the appearance of the monumental structure to greatly enhanced. Traveling men who visit many cities in both the north and south are frequently heard to express admiration of the Temple and it is generally considered a great credit to the city.

Use Dynamite In Attacks At Clifton Forge

RICHMOND, Va., Aug. 29.—Disorders believed to have their origin in the railroad strike developed Saturday night in Clifton Forge, Va. when dynamite was thrown, according to reports reaching Richmond. The explosive is believed to have been thrown from a passing automobile. Police are making a vigorous investigation.

The first explosion occurred shortly after 11 o'clock, when dynamite was thrown against the roof of the Fitzgerald commissary, which supplies food to C. & O. workmen. The explosive bounded into the air and burst over the building. No one was injured and the property damage was small. Only a few people were in the vicinity at the time.

Shortly afterwards a stick of dynamite was thrown against the home of William Jackson, a colored shopman who had declined to join the strikers. The front porch was blown away, windows were smashed and a hole torn in the side of the house. Jackson, who was asleep at the time, was not injured.

Why Commissary To Run

The commissary was established by the road because merchants in Clifton Forge displayed signs that "cash money" was wanted, and some provision had to be made to feed the workmen.

Officials of the Chesapeake & Ohio declared today that their information was that men other than shopmen were mostly responsible for the disorders, which included dynamiting and assaulting of new employees, both shopmen and clerks.

No further action has been taken, following the letter that was sent by Judge H. C. McDowell, of the United States district court, a few days ago, by counsel for the railroad, calling his attention to the disorders.

Look For Boost In Cost Of Coal

(Special to The Bee.) RICHMOND, Va., Aug. 29.—It is generally accepted here that the duties of the State Fuel Administration will end within ten days. The period for governmental direction of movements and distribution of coal being considered past. It is also expected that when the government relaxes jurisdiction, that the price of coal of all sorts will materially advance. Three weeks will elapse before there can be general relief, due to the inability of the operators to get cars to move the coal. There are many reports that these have been delivered the general public will be able to get fuel.

Crime Records To Be Kept Straight

The police department is preparing for the installation of the method of keeping the city's criminal records. City Auditor Mess is hard at work getting ready for the better business method in the police court and hopes to put it into effect at an early date.

Chief Bell has had removed from his office the numerous murky book files cluttered up with descriptions of missing criminals and he has had a regular house cleaning. The mayor too, has been busy cleaning out the accumulated papers in his department and everything is being made ship-shape for the new method.

THE CHURCH MILITANT HERE ON EARTH.

Injection of the church into the controversy between capital and labor as announced today in a message which is issued by the Federated Council of Churches, sitting at Washington, will be greeted with mixed sentiment. This message coming before Labor Day in which industrial conditions are discussed and the outright espousal of the cause of the workmen, especially the railway men and the coal men lends particular significance to the battle. There is now gainsaying that the organized church is a powerful advocate of any cause, and the forecasting of a moral defeat for capital in the present controversy is bound to make a deep impression everywhere.

There is, however, a much larger issue involved than the espousal of the cause of labor during the present controversy and conflict of opinion. The radical departure of the church from scriptural doctrine to the general economic field is so sweeping in importance that it overshadows the church's immediate championship of the cause of the workmen. The past twenty years has witnessed a remarkable change in the attitude of the church—and we mean by that the church in its larger sense and not necessarily any special denominational branch of it—towards the temporal things from which for centuries it has stood gravely aloof. The modern tendency seems to be to wipe out the line of demarcation between the spiritual and the economic order and for the church to find contact with the people wrestling with daily problems instead of being a Sabbath-day institution. This changing policy is regarded apparently on the belief that happiness in the world and the elimination of harsh and bitter conflict are necessary for the higher life, and that the time has come when the church cannot stand idly by and watch national distress and the embitterment of mind without an effort to reconcile the warring factions. Today's expression from the Federal Council tends to emphasize the militancy of the church and to recognize the more important part it seeks to play in the world's domestic life.

Scoop's Colyum

PLEASANT GAP, Aug. 28.—(Grapevine Wireless).—"Music hath charms to soothe the savage beast," quoth Aescop, or some other famous sage. But that was long before the modern "trick" instruments for making noisy music were invented. As a matter of fact, when an aggregation of jazz artists serenaded the animals at the Bronx Zoological Gardens in New York City, the beasts became so enraged that they could not be calmed for several days. Since these instruments are not popular with animals it may be taken for granted that many humans do not acclaim jazz noise as music. The worst part of these odd instruments is the amount of practicing that must be done on them to make good. This practice makes the neighbors sorry. There's nothing that peevish neighbors more than to find a musical instrument in the flat above struggle with a musical exercise. So we are not surprised to find the column conductors of the daily newspapers practicing at the expense of the musical notes. Now and then "Topics of the Day" films screen jazz jokes and verses that bring forth audience applause. Try these on your sense of humor.

RESURRECTION ROCK

by Edwin Balmer

BEGIN HERE TODAY
Had the voice of her father, dead on the battlefield of France, at last, to reach the ear of his daughter.

ETHEL CAREW? She wondered and mystery piled on mystery. Bound to the home of her wealthy and grim old grandfather, she was full of people trying to get in touch with fellows who'd been reported killed, trying to reach their dead. You see "Raymond" had recently been killed.

GO ON WITH THE STORY
"Yes, you told me so," Loutrelle replied gently.

"You don't mean father's alive and—?" Ethel began.

"No," Loutrelle denied quickly. "No; no, you mustn't think of that."

"Do you know Boyne across there?" he asked.

"You mean the little town? What's that to do with my father?"

"If I knew, I'd tell you right out," he assured. "But as it is, the only way I see to explain how that letter—and what followed—came to me, and that involves a good deal of talking about—"

"What?"

"Myself," he said simply. She glanced up at him quickly.

"I don't know where my own people lived, or what they were," Loutrelle continued. "But Boyne is much like this," he glanced about at the trees, "second growth woods, only a bit older, and Indians like Asa Redbird."

"You mean—?"

"I lived with them; yes, Miss Carew. Until I was seven years old, I thought I was an Indian myself. Some Chippewas—a good man, Asa Redbird and his wife—had me."

"He said this quite without bitterness, simply as a statement of a fact; but Ethel saw his lips press tightly together, involuntarily, his eyes gazed vacantly far away and something within Ethel's breast seemed to tug and draw taut.

"Azen told me he got me from another Indian—a man named Noah Jo, who had a boat and moved around a good deal," Loutrelle went on. "He didn't find out much about me, but Noah Jo was sick when he sent for Azen and died about the time Azen got there. Azen took with me, Noah Jo's rifle and boat and gear and some other things, one of them was a ring which Noah Jo said went with me. Azen showed it to me then, Miss Carew, and years later, he gave it to me. Would you like to see it?"

"Please," Ethel said that strange tug pulling at her harder. What he was saying to her was no oft-repeated or cheaply told tale, she was sure.

"It was an old ring, not marked with a date, but of a fashion which suggested a century, or two centuries, gone."

"What did that mean to you?" she asked, holding it a moment longer before giving it back.

"He considered it for a moment, holding it in the palm of his bare hand; they were proceeding slowly side by side. "Being a woman's ring," he said, "I supposed it was my mother's—whatever she was and however she happened to give it, and me, to Noah Jo. So I just kept the ring and tried not to think too much about her. Then, the war came along, and I went."

"I got in our own army then; but I had the luck to go just after the Marne, with the Canadians. I spent the winter of 1915-1916 in London. I was just a kid, temporarily on crutches, with a slight wound."

"Now I'll tell you why I'm ordering this. You'd say too old and rot; but go! Particularly find a place named Resurrection or perhaps it's a house or a town near the water. Wait around. There'll be someone named Bagley there, or at least one named Philip Carew. I've mentioned before, unless there's another; maybe a relation."

"You're to tell Bagley you're Dick and you'll take things over. Now I don't know what this refers to; and neither will you, probably. But it's all I can find out. I don't think you'll learn more except by going. Only believe me, if I were you, I'd go at once."

"P. S. You may have to look out when you get there. But you can see to yourself."

Ethel looked up. "Did anything follow this explanation from Huz? No."

"He put his letter away and proceeded in silence. After a few minutes, the trail left the road abruptly and vanished between the trees to the south."

"We're coming to an old lumber camp," Ethel said a little later. "No one's there now, but we keep one cabin sound and stocked with firewood."

Loutrelle pushed ahead and thrust open the weather-beaten door. He removed his skis and Ethel's also and stood them against the wall.

Connie and Fred In Clash

By Zoe Beckley.

FRED. "Salesman for the Gypsy Motor Company, has brought his young bride."

CONNIE. To New York. She begins to fear the whirl of the great city will detract from their married happiness. Fred takes her to an apartment which she dislikes and as they leave they see an ornately clad woman entering the apartment elevator.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.
As the ornate lady entered the elevator there broke from her poor Connie a muffled cry. Connie hated outrage, calamity and despair spiced in that single sound. All sorts of sensibilities some of them so deeply hidden that she herself was unaware of their existence, were being lacerated. And by Fred's hand.

"And you want me to live in this—this awful place," she gasped, "with people like—that Connie flicked her hand in the direction of the cosmeticked woman."

She suddenly broke off, whirled and sped down the steps again. Fred was badly frightened. "He faster he pursued her the more desperately she plumped ahead to escape."

Reaching the sidewalk, as she was about to run heaven knows where he caught her arm and fairly dragged her into their car.

From the desperate come-and-go of her breath Fred knew she was on the verge of hysteria. He drove home without a word. But gradually his panic waned—and his anger waxed.

How absurd it was of Connie, how inconsiderate, to behave in such a way. Here he was, giving his every thought to his work his future, their home—all for her.

Suppose she had set her heart on a certain sort of home, was it such an awful thing to compromise with dreams—especially when he needed to be in the thick of things, in the city among people with money, who knew how to live?

They hurried into their room at the hotel like two of wreckage drawn into a maelstrom. Connie flung from her the light scarf she wore and sank into a chair by the open window, her lips working as she tried to bite back unwhispered sob.

Fred could have sworn with the agony of it all. His temper rose. "Oh, what is the matter with you?" he shouted, his own nerves breaking loose.

She looked at him with the eyes of one into whose loving heart a knife had been thrust.

"Oh, nothing, Fred. I have been thinking."

"I understand, grandfather," Ethel said. "Bring him here with you," the old man ordered again and Ethel heard him hang up the receiver.

Ethel crossed to the door and, opening it, looked for Loutrelle. He had tramped off through the snow, without putting on his skis, and evidently was exploring one of the old, dilapidated shacks on the other side of the road.

"Sam Green. Sky, an Indian, is coming to meet us with a team," she announced. "I told my grandfather that you were with me, and he invited you to St. Florentin."

"Do you want me to go with you?" he asked her directly.

"No," she replied frankly. "That is, if I were you, I'd go right out to Resurrection Rock."

She had not considered at all what she said before she spoke; her words—as one's words sometimes do—had surprised her by betraying a feeling which had not yet formed itself in her thought.

"You may have to look out when you get there." She found the warning from Loutrelle's friend iterating itself again to her.

"Some one slept in that shack across there—under a hard half a roof, and with no door," Loutrelle remarked.

A queer, shiver, thought possessed her. She did not speak; but Loutrelle did.

Connie and Fred In Clash

By Zoe Beckley.

FRED. "Salesman for the Gypsy Motor Company, has brought his young bride."

CONNIE. To New York. She begins to fear the whirl of the great city will detract from their married happiness. Fred takes her to an apartment which she dislikes and as they leave they see an ornately clad woman entering the apartment elevator.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.
As the ornate lady entered the elevator there broke from her poor Connie a muffled cry. Connie hated outrage, calamity and despair spiced in that single sound. All sorts of sensibilities some of them so deeply hidden that she herself was unaware of their existence, were being lacerated. And by Fred's hand.

"And you want me to live in this—this awful place," she gasped, "with people like—that Connie flicked her hand in the direction of the cosmeticked woman."

She suddenly broke off, whirled and sped down the steps again. Fred was badly frightened. "He faster he pursued her the more desperately she plumped ahead to escape."

Reaching the sidewalk, as she was about to run heaven knows where he caught her arm and fairly dragged her into their car.

From the desperate come-and-go of her breath Fred knew she was on the verge of hysteria. He drove home without a word. But gradually his panic waned—and his anger waxed.

How absurd it was of Connie, how inconsiderate, to behave in such a way. Here he was, giving his every thought to his work his future, their home—all for her.

Suppose she had set her heart on a certain sort of home, was it such an awful thing to compromise with dreams—especially when he needed to be in the thick of things, in the city among people with money, who knew how to live?

They hurried into their room at the hotel like two of wreckage drawn into a maelstrom. Connie flung from her the light scarf she wore and sank into a chair by the open window, her lips working as she tried to bite back unwhispered sob.

Fred could have sworn with the agony of it all. His temper rose. "Oh, what is the matter with you?" he shouted, his own nerves breaking loose.

She looked at him with the eyes of one into whose loving heart a knife had been thrust.

"Oh, nothing, Fred. I have been thinking."

"I understand, grandfather," Ethel said. "Bring him here with you," the old man ordered again and Ethel heard him hang up the receiver.

Ethel crossed to the door and, opening it, looked for Loutrelle. He had tramped off through the snow, without putting on his skis, and evidently was exploring one of the old, dilapidated shacks on the other side of the road.

By NEA Service.
MACON, Ga., Aug. 29.—Getting married at 14 worried little Miss Florence Bright enormously. Not so much because she was only 14 and didn't have a thing to wear!

(Which shows, doubtless, that she was more grown up than people thought.)

Naturally it was an elopement. Papa and mama were going to send her away to a boarding school because they thought she was seeing too much of Claude (that's Claude Oliphant, the 19-year-old husband).

"I didn't think we were really and truly going to get married that night when Claude and I started for the show," said young Mrs. Oliphant. "But when we got on the street car, he said, 'Flossie' (That's what he calls me you know). 'Flossie,' he said we were going to get married tonight. 'Te told him I just couldn't. I didn't have on the right clothes to get married in—just a plain little voile dress, you know.'"

Young Mrs. Oliphant shuddered at the thought she added. "The preacher was waiting for us I just couldn't disappoint him."

(Which shows, no doubt, that the thrill of romance, even at 14, uses above feminine fashion instincts.)

"But when Claude said, 'I'm not going to do it,' I finally got there—and I just didn't see any sense in backing out."

No, she isn't a bit sorry. She says she has married the right man. Claude is so sweet and good looking, too."

(She keeps Claude's picture in a little frame on the table—they're living with the young husband's parents—and she's very proud of a gold wedding ring, even if it is several sizes too large for her 14-year-old finger.)

"I've tied a piece of string around it to make it fit until my finger grows."

"Oh, the cruelty of humans!" is quite beyond belief. The way we slaughter animals affords me untold grief. We kill the cutest heifers. To make ourselves a steak. And innocent young nuthatches. A chicken pie to bake. We broil alive young lobsters. Who never did us harm. And murder almost every duck. That's born out eyes to charm."

And as the maiden walked away, The airsoft on her Tam. Winked with a peacock feather. Which was of unborn lamb.

—New York Tribune.

FIRST ACTING
All in our pearl-rose window
The moon's aroma hung
My love and I together
Our heads upon one pillow
Looked out where an elm unfolding
A branch like a peacock feather
Hid her first autumn weather.

DAVID AND GOLIATH BUS BATTLE ON IN LONDON

The garage until it returned.

Sandwiched between the red bus and the chocolate bus is driving along the most lucrative routes in London. And ever since the Londoner heard about the bus warfare, he has made it a religious point to patronize the chocolate bus. This vehicle has been the most jammed in town.

OFFICIAL FIGURES ON WILSON WEED SALES

WILSON, Aug. 28.—Official figures on tobacco sales on the Wilson market to date, furnished by H. B. Johnson, supervisor of sales and secretary of the Tobacco Board of Trade, are as follows:

Sales for the first week of the season were 353,304 pounds, which sold for $219,921.03, an average of $22.55 per hundred pounds.

Sales for the second week up to this date, including Thursday, were 1,632,851.25, an average of $24.37 per hundred pounds. This was an increase in price average of $1.72 per hundred over the preceding week.

Sales for the season to date are 2,641,157 pounds, which sold for $632,852.37, an average of $23.94 per hundred pounds.

SALES ARE LIGHTER ON ROBESON MARKET

LUMBERTON, Aug. 28.—Approximately 200,000 pounds of tobacco was sold on the auction market here last week, the daily average ranging from $18.45 to $20.45 per hundred. Owing to the rush of the farmers to save fodder during the fair weather this week sales were somewhat lighter than last week, sales last week.

Much tobacco has been pooled by members of the co-operative marketing association this week and many bidders generally have been from the association. Many non-members of the association have applied for membership in the association during the last few days.

SHOPS ARE REOPENED

NORFOLK, Va., Aug. 28.—On the heels of a court order restraining strikers from interfering with work in its shops, the Norfolk Southern railway announced the reopening of its shops at Carolina Junction and at Newbern, N. C. No disorders were reported. Officials stated that a few of the strikers returned to their jobs.

S. C. Democratic Primary Today

COLUMBIA, S. C., Aug. 28.—All records for a Democratic primary in South Carolina will be broken tomorrow when 150,000 to 190,000 voters are expected to go to the polls out of an enrollment of 226,581. If this estimate is fulfilled it will be approximately 40,000 more votes than cast in a Democratic primary in this state heretofore. The enrollment of male voters two years ago was 152,053 indicating that there are from 60,000 to 70,000 women qualified to vote tomorrow, the first state-wide primary in which women participate in South Carolina.

Six candidates are in the race for governor. They are: Cole L. Blease, of Columbia, J. J. Cante, of Summerson, William Coleman, of Union, John F. Duncan, of Columbia, George K. Laney, of Chesterfield, and Thomas J. McLeod, of Elkhartsville. Blease was governor of South Carolina from 1911 to 1915 and in his campaign he has devoted most of his time to attacking the administration of the state's affairs since he left the governor's office. Most of the other candidates have dwelt largely on the economic issues facing the state and stressed the need for tax reforms.

McLeod served two terms as lieutenant governor a number of years ago. Laney is now a state senator, but like Coleman and Cante is running for a state office for the first time. Duncan has made several campaigns for governor.

Much interest centers in the race for state superintendent of education, the blind incumbent John B. Swearingen being opposed by five candidates including two women, Mrs. E. Rogers Drake, of Bennettsville, and Mrs. E. Barton Wallace, of Columbia. Both women have spoken in every county in the state in their campaign for votes.

Four of the seven members of the House of Representatives to be nominated have opposition only W. F. Stevenson of the fifth district, John F. Brynes in the second being renominated without opposition.

Representative W. Turner Logan in the first district is opposed by I. S. Hutto and J. B. Harrison.

Candidates in the third district are Representative Fred H. Dominick, E. P. McGray and Sam H. Sherard.

Representative Philip H. Stoll in the sixth district is opposed by J. F. Pate, A. H. Gasque and W. R. Barling.

In the seventh district Representative H. P. Fulmer is opposed by A. J. Bethea and John J. McMahan.

Still Unable To Agree Regarding German Request

PARIS, Aug. 28.—(By The Associated Press)—The reparations commission met again this afternoon in an effort to reach a unanimous agreement regarding the German request for a moratorium on her indemnity payments. At the end of several hours of discussion the British and French viewpoints were still widely at variance with the Italians and Belgians merely trying to find some proposal which would meet the ideas of France and Great Britain.

The projected solutions were seriously discussed. One of them was known as the Belgian plan and the other was an amplification of a last minute suggestion offered by Germany just before Sir John Bradbury and Eugene Mauciere, British and French members of the commission, left Berlin for Paris last week. The Belgian plan has been unofficially offered by the Belgian delegation as a means of preventing a break between England and France on the reparations issue. Under its terms Belgium would accept long term notes in place of the remaining cash payments due this year, amounting to 150,000,000 gold marks. At a guarantee of ultimate payment of these installments, Germany would deposit 210,000,000 gold marks from the reserve of the Reichsbank in the Bank of England. France has not definitely declared herself on this proposal, and M. De La Croix, Belgian member of the commission, and M. Dubois, president, are conferring in the hope that it might prove satisfactory. England and Italy already have approved the proposition.

The German plan, which probably will be the subject of conversations between the commission and German officials on Wednesday, would meet Premier Poincare's demand for allied control of German state mines and forests by a guarantee to France of the products of these resources during the period of the moratorium. Failure to promptly deliver the stipulated timber and coal would result in the seizure of certain mines which would be designated in the agreement. British approval is behind this arrangement. Which is regarded as giving France the productive guarantee she seeks without actually turning over political control of the mines and forests.

The British continue to emphasize their belief that Germany is doing everything she can to meet the French point of view and would be willing to give the productive guarantees which M. Poincare demands in return for a moratorium if such guarantees are of a strictly business character, and not political.

The French official positions continue to be that full control of the German mines and forests must be handed over to the allies in return for a moratorium. However, there is considerably less talk of threatened isolated action and more of the desire of France to reach a unanimous decision in the commission through a compromise.

France is getting friendly with Germany. As proof there is the information that the Eiffel Tower station at Paris is transmitting daily press reports in the German language.

"WATER COOLERS" CALLED STILL

NEWPORT NEWS, Aug. 28.—"Mama" water-cooler and her family of five or six baby water-coolers appeared in police court this morning, and to, they were stills, the police justice ruled.

Harry Ellenton, self-confessed manufacturer of these contrivances, was fined $277.50. He paid his fine, Harry Nachman represented him.

H. C. Miller, of Hudgins, Va., charged with being an accessory to the crime of manufacturer, was immunized when he said that he ordered a whiskey still from Harry Ellenton Saturday to be ready for shipment Monday. He was discharged. A. L. Bivens represented Miller.

Anthony Chamberlain and Percen Artist, colored, discovered in the tin-shop handling pieces of copper, were dismissed on the charge of being accessories. They were represented by S. H. Edwards.

In imposing the fine on Mr. Ellenton, Justice John Locke told him he was getting off mighty well. "And you say know that the next time you're convicted on this charge you'll get a jail sentence and a $1,000 fine," said the justice. "We're going to stop this still manufacturing industry. The next man convicted on such a charge goes to jail. That's a rule. To stop the manufacture of stills is to get at the heart of this whiskey trouble."

When arrested Monday, Mr. Ellenton insisted that he had made some water-coolers, not stills. One huge contrivance and several small ones were discovered in boxes ready for shipment to the Virginia Motor Company, Hudgins, Va. They were confiscated by Detectives J. M. Peach and L. D. Price.

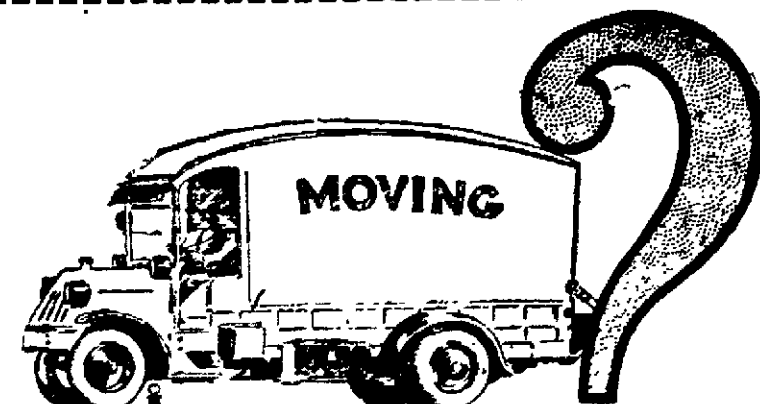

The detectives testified this morning that they had received general complaints to the effect that Mr. Ellenton was in the still-making business.

NORTH CAROLINA'S CROP

RALEIGH, N. C., Aug. 28.—With a 13 per cent increase in acreage of tobacco and a 76 per cent condition forecasting 610 pounds per acre, or a 336,700,000 pound crop this year, and most of this to be sold through the co-operative marketing plan, the farmers have much to divert their interest from the cotton crop.

The outlook is for a 84 per cent increase over last year's tobacco, but it is still 22 per cent under the 1920 record crop.

The early markets are grading their leaves for the first time.

Baseball Notes

Won the big one.

Do it again today, boys.

Bolt pitched a good game, but the breaks were "agin him."

Twombly pitched a better one, however, and fully deserved to win.

A quick double play by Stinson in the eighth extricated Twombly from a deep hole. With the sacks crowded and one out, he took Thrasher's twister and doubled Smith at first.

When it comes to steady fielding, no second-sacker in the league has anything on Charlie Stinson. His judgment of the bound of a batted ball is excellent.

Trexler did not get his bingle yesterday. He slammed two corks just outside the foul lines and then let Bolt fool him for the third strike in the second inning.

After two men had fanned in the second, Shaner shot a hard one at Overton who had no time to judge the bound. Then Regan did the Babe Ruth stunt, and the game was won.

It is surprising how many men at a ball game will cry, "He got his hand on it," no matter how difficult the play or how good the try, and will fancy the fielder ought to be penalized with an error for trying.

A curious play developed in the eighth inning. With Johnson on first and one out, Trexler drove a high fly to deep center. Irby was squarely under it and had what seemed to be an easy catch, but dropped the ball. Quickly recovering it, he forced Johnson at second. Irby could not be charged with an error, for he retired the advanced man, and Trexler is given first on a fielder's choice.

In a recent game here with Greensboro and in the ninth inning, McMillan had singled, taken second on Trexler's out, third on a wild pitch and scored on Holmes two-bagger. Then Harris, batting for Shaner, drove a hard bouncer toward short, the ball striking Holmes and retiring him. Harris, the batsman, should be credited with a base-hit.

Regan tried to bunt the third time with Shaner on in the seventh, but the ball was tapped too sharply and Bolt, who handled it, forced Shaner at second.

Bolt had Twombly's number yesterday and fanned him three times in a row. But Twombly returned the compliment at the expense of Catcher Powell, who after whiffing three times, drew a pass in the ninth.

Opinions vary so as to what constitutes a base-hit that the following definition from the official baseball rules may be of interest.

1. When the ball from the bat strikes the ground on or within the foul lines and out of reach of the fielders, provided the batsman reaches first base safely.

2. When a fair hit ball is partially or wholly stopped by a fielder in motion, but such player cannot recover himself in time to field the ball to first before the striker reaches that base, or to force out another base-runner.

3. When the ball be hit with such force to an infielder or pitcher that he cannot handle it in time to put the batsman out or force out a base-runner. In a case of doubt over this class of hits, a base-hit should be scored and the fielder exempted from the charge of an error.

4. When the ball is hit so slowly toward a fielder that he cannot handle it in time to put out the batsman or force out a base-runner. (A bunt, for instance.)

5. In all cases where a base-runner is retired by being hit by a batted ball, unless batted by himself, the batsman should be credited with a base-hit.

6. When a batted ball hits the person or clothing of the umpire.

N. E.—In no case shall a base-hit be scored when a base-runner is forced out by the play.

Get Fugitive Convicts After Hot Battle Near Bad Lands

RAPID CITY, S. D., Aug. 28.—Three of the four convicts who escaped from the South Dakota penitentiary at Sioux Falls, August 17, were captured near Creighton, in this county, late today, and the fourth was surrounded in a corn field. Two of the bandits were shot and wounded, one probably fatally.

Word of the capture was received by telephone from Creighton and verified by telegram from the Bad Land jail. The wild ride of the convicts across the state was ended when Sheriff Wilson of Haakon county, pursuing them, shot the driver of the convicts' car, sending it into the ditch.

The convicts fought a posse near Stamford early today. After mortally wounding State's Attorney M. L. Parish and wounding Sheriff J. C. Babcock they escaped in the State's Attorney's automobile.

The men were pursued from Murdo, S. D., by a hastily formed posse when it was learned they had recrossed the Missouri River into this state and were heading toward the Bad Lands.

SUCCESS AT SIXTEEN— BUT NOT A FLAPPER

HELEN WILLS

(By MARION HALE.)
 This is not a flapper story, though the heroine, Helen Wills, is just 15 years old, the approved flapper age.

This young person is very un-Scott Fitzgerald. She doesn't wear her hair bobbed, goes to bed early, speaks perfectly understandable English, gives her father credit for being a pretty smart man though she can beat him at tennis, is always chaperoned by her mother, and likes it.

So you see, no chance for a flapper angle.

However, this little girl from Berkeley, Cal., proved to be a sensation at the thirty-fifth annual woman's tennis tournament, recently held in Forest Hills, New York.

She was runner-up to Molla Bjurstedt Mallory, having even won one set from this first lady of tennis. She's being hailed as the coming champion and referred to as the girl wonder.

She took up tennis, at the age of 10, as a health measure. Her father, a California surgeon, prescribed it, and even administered it, teaching her the strokes and molding her plays until she became so good she outgrew his lessons.

Now her health is perfect, and she gives the credit to the game.

"I believe every girl ought to get the air and exercise that tennis gives," she said. "I don't see how people live cooped up all the time in little apartments."

Tennis is the great all-round game for women. It uses all the muscles that get lazy if you don't watch out. But you have to play in earnest.

"Where most women are bothered with superfluous flesh is about the waist," Tennis corrects that. "It is a much more interesting way to lose a perfect 36 waistline than by bending to the floor and counting, or rolling aimlessly about the carpet."

"I notice the things I have to do to keep in form are all the things beauty doctors advise for beauty."

Of course I have to give up candy, muscle. And I have to get lots of sleep. I never go out to parties during the week, only on Saturday nights, when I usually dance.

"This is no great hardship, for the things I like, you do by day—swimming, rowing, hiking and that sort of thing."

"I expect always to have time for tennis, but not to let it interfere with my career. I want to be an artist or a singer. As soon as I finish my last year of high school I hope to go abroad with my mother and study the arts."

Seeing Miss Wills on the court proves the efficacy of her health and beauty schedule. She weighs 135 pounds, and not an ounce is superfluous or flabby. On the court you marvel at the punch in her serves and returns. Real power is back of those strokes.

And she is so wholesome and so natural and unaffected you can't help feeling thankful she isn't a flapper.

Congress Balks At Taking Over Rails and Mines

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28.—(By The Associated Press)—Proposals for government operation of rail and coal properties were put aside, at least for the present, today and administration leaders both in and out of Congress centered their efforts instead upon less drastic measures to meet the industrial emergency.

With the return to Washington of President Harding, after an over-Sunday conference with some of his principal advisers on board the congressional train, it became apparent that no step toward government operation was to become a part of the present administration program.

Not only was it revealed that the president himself was not disposed definitely to ask for Congressional authority to take over the properties involved in the strike situation, but it was made known also that on influential group of leaders in the Senate and House had taken a position which would make passage of the authorizing legislation extremely difficult.

Meantime committees in both branches of Congress reported out for passage later in the week bills recommending that the administration be strengthened by creating a federal fuel distributing agency and by giving to the interstate commerce commission broader powers over priority of shipments, in the coal situation.

Several cabinet members, senators and the officials including Secretary Hoover, Attorney General Daugherty and Chairman Cummings of the senate interstate commerce committee, accompanied President Harding on the Mayflower trip and are understood to have taken part in a prolonged roundtable discussion of administration policies.

As viewed by the Mayflower conferees, the coal strike situation both anthracite and bituminous, appeared in a way to solve itself and insure increased production in the very near future, leaving the problem of moving the product to the consumer as the crux of the whole effort to restore industrial stability.

There was an intimation that a further curtailment of classes of railroad service, such as passenger, express and dispensable freight traffic, in order to utilize motive power and cars for fuel and food might be one of the steps taken to relieve that emergency.

In the anthracite field, reports reaching the White House were so reassuring that it was indicated an agreement to insure reopening of the mines was expected within a very short time. Secretary Davis, who represented President Harding in discussing settlement prospects with the anthracite miners and operators in Philadelphia, made a report to the president and although he was not willing to reveal its nature, Senator Pepper, Republican, Pennsylvania, who also participated in the Philadelphia conference, told inquirers that he was certain an agreement was only a question of hours.

Secretary Hoover, in appearing today before the House committee, argued that some legal method of restraining extortionate prices in coal would be necessary and declared they were contained in the measure under consideration. His views were supported by Commissioner Aitchison, J. D. Morrow, vice-president of the National Coal association, representing operators producing about half of all the bituminous coal, declared the price control methods proposed were unwise and likely to be opposed by all producers. He advocated provision of sufficient transportation facilities to guarantee a coal supply which of itself, he said, would break high prices.

A debate before the committee ensued when Commissioner Aitchison recalled for rebuttal and declared that the whole transportation machinery of the United States had already been put at the service of the coal industry and that now, with the shopmen's strike and the lack of other essential traffic devolving upon it, this machinery would be unable to move coal in a surplus great enough to prevent opportunities for profiteering in the industry. Price regulation, he maintained, would be necessary and could be brought about in a moderate form by the enactment of the legislation proposed.

PRIMARY ELECTION IN CALIF. TODAY

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 28.—Candidates will be nominated tomorrow in California's primary election for offices ranging from United States senator to justice of the peace. There is a registered vote of 1,452,223, of which 927,000 are Republicans and 525,223 are Democrats. It is expected that a heavy vote will be cast.

Principal interest centers in the contest between Senator Hiram W. Johnson and C. C. Moore, both of San Francisco, for the Republican nomination for United States senator. Both claimed victory tonight by substantial majorities.

The Democrats, Socialist and Prohibition parties have named of the senatorial ballot William J. Pearson, Los Angeles; Lpton Sinclair, Pasadena; and H. Clay Needham, New Hall, respectively, and these three will contest in the November finals with the winners of the Republican nomination.

BETTING POOLS RALEIGH'S CRAZE

CHARLOTTE, N. C., August 28.—Although the past month has seen several baseball "lottery" pools in operation in Raleigh, local police have tacitly confessed by their inaction their inability to break up these lotteries. The existence and location of the "pools" are not unknown to the law enforcement officers, but the methods which they can employ in securing the evidence on which to indict the operators is apparently the unknown quantity in the equation.

In the most popular system employed in the baseball "pools," a series of ball clubs in the National American and Piedmont Leagues are "drawn" by the participants. The combination of clubs which totals the greatest number of runs during the duration of the "pool" donates to its holder all the money in the "pool" less a house percentage.

Police know that such pools are run in two local cigar stores and know the cigar stores in which they are being run, but at the sign of brass-buttons or the appearance of Jess Wyatt or Tom Crabtree, the hush signal is said to be on. Police interference is at a standstill.

Meanwhile Raleigh's "pool" crazy with hundreds of men and boys participating in the lottery. The little numbered tickets bearing the names of the favored clubs are in evidence everywhere and even staid and respected citizens who cannot motor out to the links are indulging in this form of afternoon sport. Baseball bulletin boards present a scene like a small corner of the stock exchange with crowds of men watching breathless for the latest rally of the Giants and swearing beneath their breaths against the swarting Tigers.

Cigar stores are by no means the only scenes of the craze. They merely operate the largest "pools" and, with their boards which show the standing of the contesting team in inning, furnish a more convenient place for the pool participants to congregate. A number of larger business concerns of the city, it is said, are the sites of lesser "pools" conducted more or less "sub rosa" among the employees.

The "pools" base their prevalence and their existence on the fact that participation is cheap, action is quick, and winnings are comparatively large. The average change is not more than fifty cents. The larger "pools" it is said, specialize on the daily lottery, while the individual "pools" are more often of the weekly variety.

H. B. SMITH IS MADE PROHIBITION DIRECTOR

RICHMOND, Va., Aug. 28.—Harry B. Smith, present state prohibition commissioner for Virginia, has been made prohibition director under the attorney general, the state department of prohibition having been abolished as of September 1, next, by the last general assembly. Announcement of the appointment was made tonight by Attorney General John R. Saunders.

By NEA Service
 PARIS, Aug. 28.—France is following Great Britain in the establishment of a wireless chain that will link all colonies and other dependencies to its mother country.
 A "military wire" planned since the armistice, will now use its complete station at Sainte Anne, with this as its headquarters. French radio will cover the Sudan, the Congo, Madagascar, Cochinchina, the China, and Pondichery, India.
 Each link of this vast chain will extend a distance of 2,000 miles or less. The only link that will reach messages beyond this distance will be that between Pondichery and the Antananarivo station in Madagascar. This covers a stretch of 3,100 miles.
 Italy also has been contemplating connecting its possessions to the main land by radio, and has already built two stations in North East Africa to communicate with the main station at Rome.
 The war ended Germany's plans for a wireless chain. In this scheme three stations were contemplated: one in Africa, one in the Java seas and one in Yap.

GOVERNMENT CONTROL OF COAL PRICES NOW ENDED

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28.—Federal control of coal prices and of distribution of fuel by volunteer organization stopped today, pending passage of emergency legislation by Congress. Expiration of the fair price agreements with non-union coal operators effective today was announced by Federal Fuel Distributor Spencer who said the various districts and general committees of the emergency fuel organization will cease to function next Saturday.

"The agreement as to price restraint with the non-union operators" Mr. Spencer said, "expires today with the resumption of the union bituminous mines. About 70 per cent of the operators have held to this agreement and it is felt that the public has been saved a very large sum."

"Pending the action of Congress and the state authorities, the only restraint upon price is the schedule of fair prices declared by governors or by state coal commissioners in some of the states, to which it is earnestly hoped the operators and dealers will conform. These prices are about $4.50 a ton maximum in the Kentucky, Tennessee, West Virginia and Virginia fields, $3.75 for Pennsylvania thick vein and $4.75 for thin vein. Standards have not yet been set in other states."

"The legislation before Congress can only control the price of coal moving over state lines, that is in interstate commerce. The price of coal produced and consumed in a state, together with the charges which wholesalers and retailers within the state may make, the latter including even interstate coal, should be controlled by the state authorities. There can be no real control of profiteering unless the state authorities act."

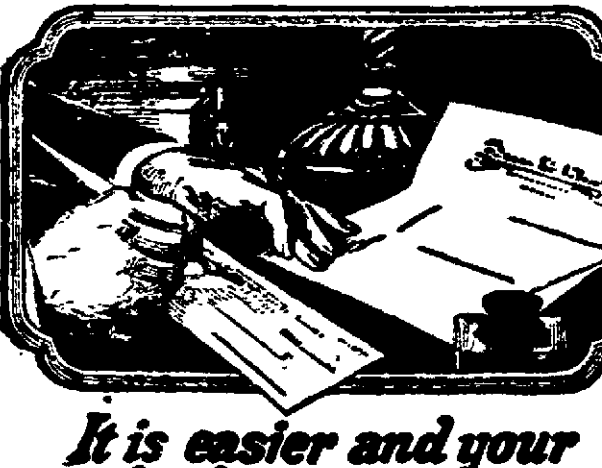

Except to the upper lake sections, Mr. Spencer stated, no more coal will be directed to different states under emergency priority orders of class I, unless a situation arises which warrants such forced measures. A new plan for the fuel relief of the north-west in the process of formation by the interstate commerce commission and the fuel distribution committee which is to be announced shortly.

Rapid resumption of production in the various bituminous fields, as shown by geological survey estimates, Mr. Spencer said, indicated a production of 8,000,000 tons this week as compared with 6,400,000 tons last week.

Father and Son Held For Murder

ATLANTA, Ga., August 28.—H. P. Sailors and his son, W. E. Sailors, were bound over to the Fulton county grand jury tonight on charges of murder in connection with the death of J. L. Martin, of Mayville, Ga., who died at a local hospital last Friday, aged 40. He had been found with a fractured skull late Thursday night. Miss Hazel Sailors was still in custody, the authorities holding her as a material witness.

Jess M. Wood, assistant city attorney, who conducted the prosecution at today's preliminary hearing, stated that a warrant charging H. L. Sailors, held on charges of suspicion with the two Sailors since Martin's death with complicity in the murder will be sworn out tomorrow.

Witnesses testifying at the hearing today asserted that the elder Sailors, had on the night Martin was found in a dying condition, sought and was refused the aid of the Ku Klux Klan in stopping Martin's attentions to his daughter, Miss Hazel Sailors, because of alleged improper conduct by the Mayville farmer towards the young woman.

COL. HOUSE IN AGREEMENT WITH COX'S PROPOSAL

LONDON, Aug. 28.—Colonel E. M. House in an interview printed by the Morning Post is quoted as having said he was in complete agreement with the suggestion of James M. Cox, for finding means to cope with the German situation. He did not know whether Mr. Cox' idea was feasible and could not judge whether it was likely to be adopted by the American government. He welcomed the proposal, however, as it was obvious something must be done quickly and Mr. Cox' plan was something tangible.

Colonel House is to breakfast this morning with Mr. Lloyd George, and his visit to Downing street, following so closely that of Mr. Cox, is considered an interest comment. The Westminster Gazette parliamentary correspondent.

HAS NO ORDERS TO RELEASE A PLANE TO HINTON

PENSACOLA, Fla., Aug. 28.—Captain H. H. Christy, commandant of the Pensacola naval air station, stated tonight that he has not yet received orders from Washington to release an H-16 seaplane to Lieutenant Walter Hinton, pilot of the Sampaolo Corra, who is reported to be on his way to Pensacola to resume his flight to Brazil in a naval plane.

The department, however, has inquired as to whether or not there is an H-16 at the station in first class condition. Captain Christy states that there are two, but both have recently been overhauled, one having been up ten hours since overhauling and the other only fifty minutes.

WARRENTON, Aug. 28.—Farmers assembled here in the courthouse and heard Senator Paul Jones, of Edgecombe, editor of the Tarboro South-erner, and Editor A. S. They were presented by B. B. Williams with a strong plea for the new sales system. The editors spoke encouragingly of the sale of cotton through co-operation.

R. S. Register, of Norfolk, told of progress on the co-operative warehouse for tobacco and promised that both the tobacco and cotton receiving points would be ready to take care of fall deliveries.

BOY MURDERER PLEADS FOR LIFE

ATLANTA, Ga., Aug. 28.—Frank DuPre, the 19-year-old boy sentenced to be hanged here next Friday for the murder of Irbey C. Walke, a detective, in a Peachtree street jewelry store holdup last December, probably will know sometime tomorrow Governor Hardwick's decision on his plea for a commutation of sentence.

It was stated at the governor's office late today that he had been working on the voluminous records in the case and a decision might be expected tomorrow.

All state courts having denied DuPre a new trial and with a petition bearing 15,000 signatures asking for commutation turned down by the state prison commission, counsel for the condemned youth made a final plea for executive clemency. DuPre pleaded that his life be spared so he could use his influence in helping "other boys go straight."

GERMANY TO SEND DELEGATE TO PARIS
BERLIN, Aug. 28.—(By The Associated Press)—Germany has accepted an invitation to send a delegate to Paris to attend Wednesday's sitting of the reparations committee. This was decided upon at a ministerial council today, which was presided over by Chancellor Wirth.

The government in informing the reparations commission of the acceptance of the invitation announced that Herr Schroeder, of the imperial finance ministry, has been selected to put forth Germany's stand on the question of reparations, and that he would be accompanied by experts from the ministry of finance and economics.

What's Up?

Secretary of War Weeks and Assistant Secretary of the Navy Roosevelt caught by the camera while in earnest conversation just after the last cabinet meeting.

LANDLORDS USE COST OF COAL
AS REASON FOR RAISING RENTS

CHICAGO, Aug. 28.—Fuel prices which have mounted rapidly as a result of the miners' strike although an important item in the cost of operating an apartment building, do not justify landlords in making more rent increases. This statement is made by one of the experts in the service of the high cost and high rents committee of the Chicago City Council.

The coal item does not cut such a big figure in the entire charges to be met by the apartment owners according to this expert. To illustrate, he offered the following figures, which he has investigated and found correct by a representative of the council's high cost office. Figures show actual cost of operating, maintenance, interest charges income and other facts about a specific building here in which there are 37 apartments.

Operation charges for a year total $13,000. Maintenance was estimated by the expert to be an additional $3,000, covering expense for decorating repairs, etc. Interest at six per cent on a mortgage of $200,000 added $12,000 to the bills which the owner is required to meet. A six per cent return on $400,000, held by the owner as his equity in the building, would require $24,000 more annually to yield on the investment.

Combining the operation, maintenance, interest on mortgage and the allowance of six per cent net profit, an annual rental of $32,000 would be required, the city council's expert said. The rentals, however, the expert said, are $66,380 a year on this specific building. Before May of 1921, when this property changed hands, the rentals totaled $55,000. A valuation of $600,000 is placed on this property by the owner. It was built a number of years ago and has been sold for half this figure, the expert said. It has changed hands many times during the last few years, each time at a higher price.

Reference to the county assessors' records show that this property is now assessed at $79,000, being the 1921 report the last issued. This is placed at $50 per cent of the actual value following local practice. In 1915 the assessment was $69,793 the assessor at that time however, making his returns at one-third actual value.

Returning to the coal, the high cost expert said that Pocahontas has been $7.50 here up until premium figures at the mines sent the prices skyward. He accounted for the Chicago price by the following figures. $1.75 for coal at the mine, $3.85 freight rate, $1.35 shrinkage, $1.75 handling here, total $7.50. He said that he understands that operators are getting up to $9 at the mines which would almost double the $7.50 price here. He declared that the landlords could absorb even this increase without rent raises. Some of the mortgages could not be paid off however at as early a date as has been figured by promoters and real estate men, he said.

TARIFF CHANGES SUGGESTED

WASHINGTON, D. C. Aug. 28.—The Senate accepted several changes in paragraph 1452 which were suggested by the Finance Committee, including the increase in a rate from 15 to 20 per cent. The paragraph which is devoted to pipes and smoking articles as it passed the Senate is as follows:

Par. 1452. Pipes and smokers' articles, of cotton tobacco, and pipe bowls made wholly of clay, valued at not more than 40 cents per gross 15 cents per gross 45 per centum ad valorem. Pipe bowls, commercially known as cigarette pipes, of all materials, whether wholly or partly finished or whether bored or unbored, pouches for chewing or smoking tobacco cases suitable for pipes, cigar and cigarette holders, finished or partly finished cigarette paper in all forms, except cork paper and all smokers' articles, whatsoever, and parts thereof finished or unfinished, not specially provided for, or whatever material composed, except china, porcelain, parian, bisque, earthenware, stone ware, 50 per centum ad valorem; meerschaum, crude or unmanufactured 20 per centum ad valorem."

TOBACCO PRICES HIGHER ON GREENVILLE MARKET

GREENVILLE, Aug. 28.—The Greenville tobacco market sold at auction this week, which was the second week of the season, approximately $14,896 pounds for the sum of $148,441.50 making an average of $22.12. The average for the second week was about one dollar higher than that for the first week, while the tobacco was about the same grade. Better prices are expected when the farmers begin bringing to market the better grades and the seed lots have been disposed of. Satisfaction seems to prevail on every sale. The co-operative association at this point has received about 12,000 or 15,000 pounds, not so much having been delivered yesterday as the day before.

EXPERIMENT A SUCCESS

SWEETWATER, Tenn., Aug. 28.—The tobacco experts here, who are now engaged in a B. B. T. Tobacco Club, declaring that the farmers of this county were overlooking the opportunity of their lives in not raising tobacco. A number of farmers became interested and a few put in several acres. It was declared that the soil in this county was even better suited than that in Greene county, which has been long famed for its tobacco crops. Among those who put out a crop was Harry L. Heiskell, whose farm is on the outskirts of Sweetwater. He set six acres, using the seed furnished by the tobacco organization and followed their instructions carefully in raising, setting and cultivating. Recently through the efforts of County Agent H. K. Fister, some tobacco experts together with a representative of the Division of Extension University of Tennessee, came to Sweetwater to look at Mr. Heiskell's

TEAM IT WITH RED

Red is an ever-blooming perennial—sartorially speaking. It is seldom scheduled for overhauling popularity, but there is never a season during which it doesn't put in an appearance. Its chief use this season is to line the wide sleeves or loose panels that continue to be worn, to touch up a dark gown with a dash of embroidery or to function, in its lighter shades, in evening gowns or undoubted dash and brilliancy.

For daytime wear all the shades of brown are undoubtedly most popular. They vary from the brown that is nearly black to the brown that is nearly red or yellow, with special favor shown to the golden browns half way down the scale.

AMELIA WILL BUILD
TOBACCO WAREHOUSE

PETERSBURG, Va., August 23.—Plans are under way by citizens of Amelia County, according to reports reaching here, to erect a tobacco warehouse this season. The promoters are expecting 1,500,000 pounds of tobacco to be sold in Amelia County that formerly went to other places. The reports say that Amelia and certain sections of Dinwiddie, as well as Prince George, have a fine crop of tobacco this year. About the same acreage was planted as last year, but the crop is heavier and finer. The farmers to Amelia County held a big meeting at Amelia Courthouse Friday, and, with their families, enjoyed the day discussing the prospects for good prices for their week. The warehouse question was given consideration. Following the meeting it was announced that steps would be taken immediately to build.
